

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING AND APPLIED SCIENCE
APPLICATION FOR SENIOR THESIS/INDEPENDENT WORK FUNDING

Seniors in the School of Engineering and Applied Science may apply for support for senior thesis and independent work research from funds administered by the SEAS Dean's Office. These funds are normally restricted to consumable supplies, software, small equipment and parts, and travel for field experiments. They specifically do not cover books and journals, food and refreshments, copying, thesis preparation and poster printing costs, or capital equipment. Funding per project will normally not exceed $500; requests above that amount will be considered only if accompanied by a special request letter from your adviser. All awards are contingent on the availability of funds. There are two funding rounds annually. Applications for fall term projects and senior theses are due on October 15, 2018; applications for spring term projects are due on February 15, 2019. By the deadline, please bring the following to Dean Bogucki's office in C-209 Engineering Quad.

- ☐ this page, including your adviser's signature (fill in fields, print, then have adviser sign);
- ☐ a proposal of no more than two pages that describes your project;
- ☐ a detailed budget of the TOTAL cost of your project, including any funding you requested and/or received from all other sources;
- ☐ the attached waiver of liability form with your signature (your original signature is required).
